

Graduate Field sales support RoofLITE offices, Fertőszentmiklós

The VELUX Group in FERBAU, Hungary, is looking for a Graduate in field sales support functions in marketing department who can drive projects and processes that strengthen our strategy of "more for less". Your main objective will be to closely co-operate with RoofLITE sales team in delivering the right product-, service-, price-, promotion- and channel strategies in accordance with our vision.

We offer market-based salary for this position.

Facts and figures

Fertőszentmiklós is located approx. 30 kilometres from Sopron and employs 30 people. We characterize ourselves as the preferred low-cost roof window supplier on the market.

Your colleagues

RoofLITE is a small international organization of 50 employees all over in Europe. Head office is located in Fertőszentmiklós, Hungary, and some of the departments (like Sales, Marketing, and Development) are managed from other countries in Europe. As a marketing graduate, you will part of a small but growing team of people from Hungary, Poland and France.

Your challenges

RoofLITE realize there is a growing demand for a roof window range fitting every need as well as every budget. In response, we aim to maintain a product/service offer on the market with which customers only pay for what they actually need.

In this spirit, you will be responsible for supporting sales team via analysis work, customer meetings preparations, sales tools production, and development of merchandising solutions. There is likely to be extensive travel in order to support the sales force in customer meetings, internal sales meetings, etc.

As part of our team, you will be expected to bring new ideas as well as implement existing ones.
