

Encore is the market leader in Energy Risk Management across Europe managing over €2bn of energy market risk for our clients in 17 countries.

BUSINESS ANALYST

You are a graduate who want to transform your excellent academic results into practical solutions for our clients;

You have a desire to show the world how good you are by delivering results and not simply talking about them;

You are dynamic, hard working, ambitious and willing to travel across Europe in support of our customers and their objectives;

You have the following language skills:

Advanced English
Any Other European Language
(Hungarian is not necessary)

Working for Encore is hard. We demand your best and if you are the best the rewards you can receive will reflect this.

We have a strong focus on performance and therefore we have a fixed salary plus a bonus scheme with a minimum two months salary to be paid after one year with no upper limit.

Responsibilities:

- Analyzing a variety of energy commodity markets across the world
- Operating a risk management service for our European clients
- Negotiating contracts for our clients
- Participating in consultancy projects for Encore's International blue chip client base
