

Encore is the market leader in Energy Risk Management across Europe managing over €2bn of energy market risk for our clients in 17 countries.

OPERATIONS ANALYST (NIGHT SHIFT)

Your responsibilities will include:

- Managing data for a number of energy commodity markets across the world
- Supporting the risk management service for our European clients
- Producing daily, weekly, and monthly market news and analysis
- Constant development of new products and services and improvement to our existing range
- Support consultancy projects for Encore's International blue chip client base
- Provide supporting data and information for energy supply contracts
- Research of specific energy market topics

The ideal candidate would have the following credentials:

- Excellent analytical skills, keen to learn, able to manage multiple tasks in parallel
- Fluent in English
- Good command of another language beneficial
- Numerate and analytical but no formal qualifications required
- Familiarity with tools such as Excel, Access and VBA or other programming languages would be an advantage but training can be given to the right candidates
- Prepared to work in a shift system which will mean working overnight for four nights a week in a continental shift pattern

For the successful candidate, Encore can provide:

- The opportunity to participate in the growth of this young firm and to have responsibility very early in your career
- An international yet informal work environment
- Excellent hands-on training
- Excellent financial reward including a bonus scheme

Send your English CV to: Edit Illés

editilles@encore-international.net

+36 1 472 2600